16 Responses to “[Official] Snow Technique” by michaelandrew All this stuff can be very dangerous. I’ve seen a few snow “surging” where the snow has mass and is forcefully moved from one side of a road to the other. This can cause all kinds of problems because it creates a large gap in between the moving and stationary snow that won’t pack the same. Then when you plow it you can lose the top layers in the middle of the road. This isn’t the end of the world just the beginning of a huge snowball fight. A lot can happen, one has to be careful during the winter, sometimes times are hard if it snows early and hard, if it snows during the night because we don’t know.it will lead to a delay to the bus or there might be a last minute change. and if it goes after 11pm traffic can sometimes be a problem.Q: iOS Bluetooth Handover Is there a way to stay paired with Bluetooth even if the device lost its connection when there is already a device connect over Bluetooth. When there is already a device connect over Bluetooth, when I power down the device and power it on, iPhone/iPad provides me an option to accept/reject the device. I am using UUID in my app. When I lost the connection, I display a message to the user. Is there a way to stay paired with the device regardless? If this a possible case is appreciated. Thanks in advance. A: The general
