The Ascendant Qur'an: Realigning Man to the Divine Power Culture is the first tafsir to be written directly in the English language. It is also the first tafsir to be written specifically to reinterpret the lessons of the noble Qur'an for the needs of Muslims living in the modern world, and particularly for those active in the contemporary Islamic movement. In addition, the book deals with the issue of economic justice which is more central than before and recreates a more complete picture of life of the Prophet than any other book. It shows how the partnership with the Beloved is required for each phase in the Prophet's life, beginning with his childhood, his youth and the period of his allegiance to Al-Kasbi, his youth, the purification (baqsh), and after his marriage until his final years. The Ascendant Qur'an: Realigning Man to the Divine Power Culture is the first tafsir to be written directly in the English language. It is also the first tafsir to be written specifically to reinterpret the lessons of the noble Qur'an for the needs of Muslims living in the modern world, and particularly for those active in the contemporary Islamic movement. This second volume concludes the explanation of Surah Al Imran, going from verse 1 through 120. In particular, it addresses the following topics: the Shar'ia as a replacement for democracy, the issue of Islamic government, why blind obedience to leadership is not the norm, one's belief in the Shar'ia, the backsliding of religious leaders, and the shortcomings of the unbelievers in preventing man-made innovation. The Ascendant Qur'an: Realigning Man to the Divine Power Culture is the first tafsir to be written directly in the English language. It is also the first tafsir to be written specifically to reinterpret the lessons of the noble Qur'an for the needs of Muslims living in the modern world, and particularly for those active in the contemporary Islamic movement. This first volume explains the Qur'anic context for the Prophet's statements on Palestine and Iran.
